Annual Party in the Park Highlights Summer Event Season

The City of Wilsonville is hosting several family-I friendly community events this summer, culminating with the annual end-of-summer Party in the Park concert event on Thursday, Aug. 22.

City events bring friends and families together to celebrate summer at Wilsonville's best gathering places. Most events listed are free.

The fourth annual Juneteenth Celebration takes place at Town Center Park, 5-7 pm, on Wednesday, June 19. This year's celebration features a keynote address by Kimberly Howard Wade, executive director of Caldera Arts, which empowers and inspires at-risk youth through art, environment, and mentoring.

Presented by the City's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Committee, the event brings people of all races, nationalities and religions together to celebrate our shared humanity and acknowledge our history.

The event features DJ Bryson Wallace, food from Cafe Yumm (in limited supply), activities, giveaways, and more.

The event is made possible by generous contributions from local businesses, including platinum sponsor Swire Coca-Cola.

A Korean War Remembrance Ceremony takes place at 10 am place at Town Center Park on Saturday, June 29, to honor veterans and recognize the anniversary of the beginning of the Korean War, in 1950. Notably, this event marks the grand opening of the Korean War Memorial Interpretive Center, a permanent exhibit hosted at the Parks and Rec. Admin. Building

The third annual Fourth of July Laser Light Show takes place at Town Center Park at 9 pm on Tuesday, July 4. This more inclusive, safer alternative to traditional fireworks celebrations features a light show accompanied by music. The free show begins when darkness falls (close to 10 pm). Guests are encouraged to bring blankets and lawn chairs.

The Friday night Movies in the Park series returns with four family-friendly films are projected on an inflatable screen. Short lawn-chairs, blankets and snacks are welcome.

Schedule (movies start at dusk; times vary):

Nate Botsford headlines Wilsonville's final summer concert, Party in the Park, on Aug. 22.

- July 12: Barbie (Town Center Park)
- July 26: Elemental (Edelweiss Park)
- Aug. 9: Migration (Town Center Park)
- Aug. 23: Wish (Memorial Park, River Shelter)

This year's annual Party in the Park features a live concert performance from Nate Botsford on Thursday, Aug. 22, 5:30-8:30 pm at Town Center Park. In addition to great music, guests can enjoy food from local food carts, lawn games, giveaways and activities.

These City-hosted activities represent just a few of the many community events in store for Wilsonville residents and visitors this summer, including the Sole Sisters Half, 10K & 5K (June 1), a weekly Farmers Market at Town Center Park (Thursdays, all summer), Wilsonville Rotary's concert series (begins July 18), the Wilsonville Brewfest (July 27), and more.

Find more community events on the City's website at ci.wilsonville.or.us/calendar.

Ribbon-Cutting, Public Tours Held to Celebrate New Public Works Complex

mid-May event was held by the City of Wil-Asonville to celebrate the completion of a new, centrally-located Public Works Complex. Following remarks by Mayor Julie Fitzgerald and the traditional ribbon-cutting, the doors were opened for public tours of the facility.

Opened in February, the seven-acre complex on Boberg Road consolidates staff, tools and equipment to provide less costly, more efficient maintenance of Wilsonville's assets and infrastructure.

The complex includes an earthquake-resistant 17,246-square-foot office building, an 18,000-squarefoot warehouse to protect City assets and equipment, as well as a decant facility, vehicle wash bays, and other amenities.

Equipped with secondary power, primary and secondary data/communications and advanced security systems, the building provides a secure and resilient Emergency Operations Center (EOC) in the event of a large-scale disaster.

Taking Our Opportunity to Advocate for Wilsonville in D.C.

ne of the most inspiring responsibilities I have as Mayor is our annual May visit to Washington D.C., where we are granted precious time with federal policy makers to extol Wilsonville's virtues and advocate for the City and the region's greatest

The opportunity is both empowering and daunting, as we infrequently have the direct ear of federal lawmakers and we want to make the most of the opportunity. Preparation for city and region-specific meetings during this trip is key, achieved by working with the City's government affairs director, Mark Ottenad; Dwight Brashear, director of South Metro Area Regional Transit (SMART); and regional elected officials and their

With neighboring Portland-area cities, Wilsonville represents the Joint Policy Advisory Committee on Transportation (JPACT). Together, our cities lobby for federal funding to advance transportation priorities established by the Oregon Department of Transportation, Metro, TriMet and others. This includes time with elected officials and staff representing the Federal Highway Administration (FHwA), the House Transportation and Infrastructure Commit-

Additionally, Wilsonville is afforded one-on-one time with Oregon's elected officials to discuss our City's progress, and immediate priorities to responsibly manage Wilsonville's continued growth. I had the privilege of leading the conversation about Wilsonville's ambitions with Oregon's legislators and their staffs, including Senators Ron Wyden and Jeff Merkley, and Representative Andrea Salinas.

In these meetings, there was great interest and good conversation about several projects aimed at reducing the burden on the transportation system, including:

 The congestion caused in our city and regionally by the ineffective design of the Boone Bridge and the need to determine a funding source to replace it.

∧ 7ilsonville Parks and Recreation is the recipient of a $550,000 federal grant from the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF). The money is to be used toward a project to purchase and install new playground equipment in lower Memorial Park.

Replacing the existing playground is ex-n the heels of their 2024 5A State Champion-ship, the Wilsonville High School girls' golf team paid a visit to Council Chambers for a formal celebration of their achievement.

On May 14, at Trysting Tree Golf Club in Corvallis, Wilsonville shot a two-day total of 680 to best second-place Summit High School by 36 strokes.

In summarizing their achievements, head coach Chris Bensel noted the team has lost just one match over three seasons.

"They have so much spirit," Bensel said. "Not only are they great golfers, they're great humans, gracious in the way they win."

Wilsonville Community Sharing (WCS) relies on the year-round generosity of residents to help our neighbors in need.

Prepare Your Home for Wildfire Season By Creating Defensible Space

With hotter summers, wildfires have become an V increasing reality throughout Oregon. These events pose a significant threat to both human lives and property. WILSONVILLE

Wildfires can spread rapidly, driven by factors such as wind, topography, and fuel availability. Embers carried by the wind can ignite structures even before the main fire front arrives.

There are crucial, proactive measures and best practices homeowners can put in place now to help safeguard their home or business against wildfire.

Create Defensible Space

The first line of defense against wildfires is to create defensible space. Any buffer you can create between your business, home or outbuildings and the grass, trees, shrubs, or wildland area that surround these structures can help slow or stop the spread of wildfire. Studies show that well-maintained defensible space can increase structures' survival chances during a wildfire and give protection even when firefighters are unable to reach your property.

Oregon's Fire Marshal recommends taking the following steps to help create defensible space.

- Remove leaves, pine needles, and other debris from roofs, gutters, on and underneath decks.
- Trim tall plants and bushes growing directly under your eaves.

- Trim trees and bushes to provide adequate space between vegetation and structures.
- Remove dead and combustible plants and mulch, especially within the first several feet from the home. Replace with decorative rock or gravel.
- Cover exterior attic vents, soffit vents, and areas below decks and patios with 1/8" metal wire mesh.

Grow Fire-Resistant Plants

Another proactive measure you can take to prepare for wildfire is to provide regular landscape maintenance; water, prune and mow regularly.

Also, consider planting fire-resistant plants that don't readily ignite from a flame or other ignition source. There are many attractive fire-resistant plants that can also boost your home's curb appeal.

The Oregon State University Extension Service recently collaborated with other institutions to update a comprehensive guide to fire-resistant plants.

To find 'Fire-resistant Plants for Home Landscapes,' visit bit.ly/fr_plants

Provide Easy Access

Ensuring adequate access for firefighting vehicles and maintaining a reliable water supply is crucial for defending structures. Maintain clear driveways and access roads free from obstructions. Access to fire hydrants or water storage tanks provides firefighters with the resources they need to protect buildings.

Wildfire protection, like most aspects of prepara-

Mayor: Advocating for Wilsonville in Washington D.C.

- The City's transit-oriented development project, which is to provide 121 units of affordable and workforce housing adjacent the Wilsonville Transit Center.
- The I-5 Pedestrian Bridge, which will connect west side neighborhoods and the Transit Center to the Town Center, the Library and Memorial Park.
- The French Prairie Bridge, ODOT's preferred
- solution to accommodating safe passage over the Willamette for pedestrians and cyclists.
- The Town Center Plan, which would provide a vibrant, active neighborhood that can be easily accessed and enjoyed by any mode of transportation.

Our conversations allowed us to reiterate our concern for residents and businesses throughout Wilsonville, and the urgent need for a fair and logical approach to funding replacement of the Boone Bridge that will not unduly impact our city or the Charbonneau neighborhood specifically. We also addressed the need for thoughtful, intentional planning of any potential expansion of the Aurora Airport that meaningfully includes local voices.

I came home energized after days well spent putting our best foot forward, having productive conversations, and working toward an even better Wilsonville.

City Celebrates Pride Month with Mural, Reception

To commemorate Pride Month, the City has commissioned a temporary mural at Town Center Park, which has been painted on the glass exterior of the Parks and Recreation Administration Building (29600 SW Park Place).

Pride Month Mural Reception Sat, June 1, 2-4 pmTown Center Park

The mural was designed and installed by local artist Ren Kyles, a recent graduate of Laguna College of Art and Design with a Bachelors of Fine Art. An illustrator and designer, Kyles enjoys producing captivating visuals that tell a story.

"Pride has helped the LGBTQIA+ community grow stronger over the years, and it's given so many people the freedom to express themselves authentically," Kyles said. "I wanted to create a visual language that celebrates the essence of the LGBTQIA+ community: love, understanding, compassion, and connection.

For the Pride mural, Kyles featured a folk-art aesthetic with subtle nods to Pride. The color palette echoes the rainbow flag, while the illustrations symbolize growth, transformation, love, happiness, and the connections that bind us together.

"This mural is a way for me to give back, to showcase LGBTQIA+ pride, and hopefully, to amplify our voices," Kyles said. "It's a chance to celebrate who we are and create a more inclusive space for everyone." In celebration of the City's LGBTQIA+ community members, the City is hosting a reception to view the Pride Month mural on Saturday, June 1, 2-4 pm. City staff are distributing a limited-edition "Wilsonville Pride" pin at the event, which includes light refreshments and a Pride-themed StoryTime from the Wilsonville Public Library.

The Pride Month mural is to be displayed throughout June. Its commissioning was a collaboration between the City's Arts, Culture, and Heritage Commission (ACHC) and its Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) Committee, who sought to support an Oregon artist and celebrate Pride Month in a meaningful way. Learn more about the artist at renkyles.

LGBTQIA+ Pride

Month has been celebrated formally in the United States since 1999, when a presidential declaration officially recognized Pride Month.

For more information on the Pride Month mural and/or reception, contact Zoe Mombert, 503-570-1503, mombert@ci.wilsonville.or.us or Erika Valentine, 503-570-1629, valentine@ci.wilsonville.or.us.

The City's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (or DEI) Committee was established by the City Council in 2021 to connect Wilsonville to the diverse perspectives and lived experiences of its people.

Committee members serve as a direct liaison between the community and City Hall, amplifying the voices and addressing the needs of people traditionally under-represented or excluded in government.

What is DEI?

Bill de la Cruz, a consultant whose work informed the City's process of developing its road map to developing more inclusive practices and establishing Wilsonville's DEI Committee, explains and provides a brief definition of each aspect of DEI..

De la Cruz: "Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) is not something to fear, and it is important to define the meaning to understand the opportunities that can arise from using DEI strategies."

Community Voices: Understanding DEI

Diversity is the various identities that we have as human beings. Our identities go beyond what we can see and include beliefs, ideology, religion, as well as other identities. Identities are how we as individuals, define ourselves, which are different from labels, which is how others see us.

Equity is a process of differentiation so that people in the community can have access to City supports and services. The process of differentiation understands that not everyone will have their needs met in the same way. To differentiate effectively means that we have to have a relationship with those we serve to understand what their needs are to have access to City services and support.

Inclusion is the ability to feel valued and trusted as a part of the community. Inclusion includes being able to participate in city services and activities while having our voices heard regardless of our perspective or ideology.

Business License Renewals, Fees Due to City By June 30

City Code requires all businesses located in or working in the city limits to obtain a business license, including home-based businesses and doorto-door solicitation permits.

The City's business license renewal period occurs each June; business licenses expire annually on June 30. To expedite renewals, the City mailed out business license renewal forms in mid-May. If you have not received yours, please contact the business license department.

Renewing a business license is an easy three-step process:

- 1. Complete the information at the top of the form.
- 2. Calculate the amount due according to the fee schedule.
- 3. Insert the signed and dated form with the fee in the return envelope and mail back or place in the drop box at City Hall.

Once the renewal is processed, a new license is issued, and is mailed to the business for display.

If you have questions regarding a business or renewal application please contact Amanda Bryant at 503-570-1518 or licenses@ci.wilsonville.or.us.

Online renewal now available

The City now provides businesses the opportunity to renew their license online, through the City's new payment portal.

Visit ci.wilsonville.or.us/online-portal. Pre-registration is required for new users.

To link an existing account to a business, please contact 503-570-1518 or licenses@ci.wilsonville.or.us.

POLICE CHIEF'S CORNER

This month, I'm handing off my writing duties to traffic safety officer Nate Banfi, an in-house expert on an important topic for parents of young children.

Chief Robert Wurpes

Child Safety Seats: Protecting Our Most Vulnerable Passengers

Car seats are a necessity for the many families in our thriving community who navigate busy schedules on the roadways with young children in tow.

Oregon law requires that all children be restrained in an appropriate child restraint system while riding in a motor vehicle, until an adult seat-belt fits them correctly.

Infants and small children are our most vulnerable road users; the importance of ensuring their safety cannot be understated. They are unable to advocate for themselves, and therefore require their responsible parties to take appropriate precautions to provide for their safe transport and well-being. The unique anatomy of small children makes them highly susceptible to the forces involved in motor-vehicle collisions. The result of improperly restrained children is both tragic and preventable.

While the need for children to be safely secured in vehicles is clear, it can be overwhelming to understand the legal requirements dictating the use of child safety seats, not to mention the plethora of makes, models and options of seats available to the public

While not all-encompassing, the basic rules in Oregon dictating proper car seat usage include:

- Infants must ride in a rear-facing car seat in the backseat of a vehicle until at least age two, or until they reach the upper weight or height limit of the car seat.
- Children should ride in a forward-facing car seat until they reach forty pounds, or until they reach the upper weight or height limit of that car seat
- Booster seats are required for children up to 4'9" tall and until they are at least 8 years old or when the adult seatbelt fits correctly across the upper thighs and shoulder/chest.

A general rule of thumb: if a child cannot be properly fitted with an adult safety belt, one of the above needs to be utilized.

Because there are many makes and models of car seats available, it's important to refer to the user manuals for proper installation.

For assistance with car seat installation/usage and to determine eligibility for financial assistance, Oregon Health and Sciences University (OHSU) offers community car seat clinics and individual appointments. Information is available at the Doernbecher Children's Hospital Car and Street Safety website: ohsu.edu/doernbecher/car-and-street-safety

Community members are always welcome to stop by the Wilsonville Police Department or contact the non-emergency line (503-655-8211) with questions and/or for assistance with car seat installation.

Let's work together to keep the smallest members of our community safe!

Officer Nate Banfi

Wilsonville HS Junior Passes Bus Safety Law

Wilsonville High School junior Sean Sype undertook an unusual extra-curricular activity this winter — he successfully lobbied for the passage of a new law that make roadways safer for students

Two years ago, he watched a vehicle charge illegally past a stopped school bus and wondered why there were no cameras to deter drivers from this dangerous behavior.

Through the school board, he was put in contact with House Rep. Courtney Neron, with whom he worked to develop House Bill 4147, which allows jurisdictions to install cameras on school bus stop sign arms as a deterrent to drivers who don't stop for school buses as required by law.

The bill, co-sponsored by Rep. Neron, was passed by the Oregon legislature in March; it becomes effective in 2025.

"I'm just glad we can make the community safer," Sype said.

Notable Actions: City Boards and Commissions

| City Council | Action  | What it Means   |
|--------------|---|---|
| May 6        | On first reading, the City Council approved updates to the City's procurement code to improve clarity and expedite the execution of public contracts.   | Mindful of inflation since code was last updated in 2005, these updates expand the City Manager's administrative authority to approve contracts of up to $250,000.   |
| May 6        | The Council approved a $458,000 contract with Aaken Corporation to fund the third phase of the City's LED Street Lighting Conversion.  | The project is converting 335 more Wilsonville streetlights from older, traditional sodium vapor lights to new long-lasting, energy-saving LED lights.  |
| May 6        | The Council approved the allocation of nearly $110,000 in Wilsonville-Metro Community Enhancement grant awards for the upcoming fiscal year:   | A per-ton fee charged by Metro regional governmenton solid-waste transfer stations located in communitiesthroughout the greater Portland region is delivered backto the community to fund new projects.   |
| May 6        | The Council approved a $136,000 contract with Absco Solutions.   | This action funds a new card access system and security cameras at the South Metro Area Regional Transit (SMART) administrative offices.  |
| May 6        | The Council approved Intergovernmental Agreement with Clackamas County to cost efficiently establish fiber connections to City reservoirs located at Elligsen Road and SW 82nd Ave.   | The project enables the City to meet more stringent security requirements for water infrastructure established by the federal government.   |
| May 6        | To advance a project to build a pedestrian bridge over I-5, the Council approved a resolution that authorizes the acquisition of properties and property interests.   | This action facilitates construction of the west side bridge landing, trail construction, and utility relocation.   |
| May 6        | The Council adopted an intergovernmental agreement with Metro to begin the Wilson-ville Industrial Land Readiness project.  | The project allocates $290,000 in Metro grant funding to identify priorities that would ready the Basalt Creek Planning Area and other industrial-zoned properties to welcome future development.  |
| May 6        | The Council adopted an intergovernmental agreement with the City of Portland for consultation on the formation of a local improvement district (LID).   | The action efficiently advances roadway improvements to SW Parkway Avenue and SW Printer Parkway Avenue to accommodate new industrial development.  |
| Apr. 15      | The City Council affirmed DevelopmentReview Board (Panel B) Resolution 429. fol-lowing a Class I review.  | The ruling was that there is an existing non-conforming use for the property located at 29400 SW Town Center Loop West (formerly Fry's).  |
| Apr. 15      | The Council approved a $252,000 contract with Flow Line Construction LLC to complete ADA-compliant trail upgrades to the Park at Merryfield Trail and to construct a new segment of the new Boones Ferry Park Trail.                                       | Grant funding of $115,000 is covering nearly half of the cost of the project, which provides connection to the Old Town neighborhood.  |
| Apr. 15      | On second reading, the Council adopted the 2024 Stormwater Master Plan as a sub-element of the City's Comprehensive Plan.   | Last updated in 2012, the Stormwater Plan identifies 15 short- and long-term capital projects to meet current and future storm drainage infrastructure needs over the 20-year planning period.  |
| Apr. 15      | The Council accepted the relinquishment of a portion of Elligsen Road by the Oregon Department of Transportation and approved a Cooperative Maintenance Agreement between the City of Wilsonville and the State for the portion of road to be relinquished. | This agreement allows the City to have authority over design and construction standards of the roadway to ensure it complies with the City's Transportation System Plan and local road standards. The transfer also clarifies road maintenance responsibilities and ensures efficient and consistent road maintenance activities. |

$110,00 Allocated to Fund Six Community Enhancement Projects

The Wilsonville-Metro Community Enhancement Committee, which oversees local implementation of the Wilsonville-Metro Community Enhancement Program, has allocated nearly $110,000 to fund six community improvement projects.

The program is funded by a per-ton fee charged by Metro regional government on solid-waste transfer stations located in communities throughout the greater Portland region.

The Community Enhancement Committee annually reviews projects or programs nominated by the public and members of City boards and commissions. Funding is allocated to projects that meet program criteria. Awards are approved by the City Council.

Awards/recipients for the upcoming fiscal year include:

- $29,000 to the City's Arts, Culture and Heritage Committee, to support "Many Cultures, One Heart" Public Arts Project
- $19,500 to the City's Natural Resources Department, to support the Wilsonville Field Guide.
- $19,929 to Friends of Trees, to support Tranquil Park stewardship and restoration
- $17,000 to the City's Parks and Recreation Department, to support the Murase Music Garden
- $13,260 to Grace Chapel, in support of Heart of the City's Client Services Accessibility Project
- $11,187 to Portland State University, to support Art and Stories from Behind the Walls at Coffee Creek Correctional Facility

2024-25 Budget Forwarded to City Council for June Adoption

The City's Budget Committee, which includes the City Council and five appointed volunteer representatives, has adopted a City budget for the 2024-25 fiscal year. The draft budget is to be considered for final adoption at the June 3 meeting of the City Council.

The proposed $257.8 million all-funds budget includes a $61.9 operating budget and $60.4 million earmarked for capital improvement projects.

The budget is drafted annually by the City's Finance staff, informed by detailed budgetary projections from each City department.

At the City's annual budget meetings, which took place at City Hall on May 9 and May 15, City staff presented information about upcoming projects to inform the Committee's review.

To view the proposed budget, visit ci.wilsonvillle. or.us/budget.

Council Upholds DRB Ruling of Non-Conforming Use of Fry's Property

A t a special meeting of the City Council held on Friday, May 17, the Council upheld Development Review Board (DRB) Resolution 432, which denied the continuation of a non-conforming use to the proposed occupant of the property at 29400 SW Town Center Loop West. Any new use must continue the property's existing use upon the 2019 adoption of the Wilsonville Town Center Plan or adhere with zoning regulations outlined in the Plan.

Warm Stream Temperatures Place Stress on Aquatic Organisms

With summer approaching, many Oregonians will be flocking to local water ways to beat the heat. We all enjoy clean, cool water, but did you know that our native fish and aquatic insects need this cool water to survive? In Wilsonville, the temperature of the Willamette River through is typically at its highest during July and August.

Generally, the body temperature of most fish is about 1 degree Fahrenheit higher than the temperature of the water it lives in. With this strong dependence on the condition of the surrounding environment, it is easy to understand the importance of water temperature in riparian ecosystems for fish and other wildlife.

Salmon become stressed in water temperatures exceeding 68 degrees Fahrenheit and have difficulty obtaining enough oxygen. At 70 degrees and above, salmonids suffer increased mortality rates.

Historically, temperature has presented one of the biggest ecological challenges to healthy water ways in Wilsonville. The Willamette River is listed with the federal Environmental Protection Agency as impaired because of high water temperatures and their impact on approved uses.

Forested riparian zones can reduce stream temperatures significantly. Planting trees along streams, such as Boeckman Creek, shades and cools the water from solar heat before it reaches the Willamette River. Planting trees also provides habitat and food for aquatic wildlife while stabilizing soils.

You Can Help

To help reduce stream temperatures and increase the quality of riparian habitat, the Natural Resources Program is offering up to five free native trees from Bosky Dell Nursery to be planted on private property. Planting along riparian corridors is encouraged, but any planting contributes to the urban canopy, which reduces overall temperatures within the City limits.

To receive your coupon for free native plantings, please contact the City's Environmental Specialist, Jim Cartan, 503-570-1552, jcartan@ci.wilsonville.or.us.

The Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) considers its I-5 Boone Bridge Replacement Project about more than fixing a bridge.

The project intends to bring communities together by improving travel options for all users. It is informed by Oregon's new Climate-Friendly & Equitable Communities (CFEC) program, which focuses on sustainability, inclusivity and community involvement.

While the project aims to build a bridge across the Willamette River that can withstand a major earthquake, it also aims to improve safety and congestion and provide better options for the active transportation community.

The new bridge needs to be safe for all kinds of traffic—cars, buses, walkers and bike riders—now and in the future. ODOT is considering building a wider bridge that can hold a new auxiliary lane in the southbound direction of I-5.

The CFEC process is centered on promoting equitable outcomes for those who use the bridge. The process is designed to gather feedback from the community, and to illustrate how the project may impact under-represented populations in order to help collect well-informed input.

The project team has been reaching out to different communities, including those for whom English is a second language, bike riders, commuters and those with lower incomes.

This summer, the project team will be engaging with communities who aren't always at the table to ensure everyone a chance to be heard and considered in the decision-making process.

The CFEC program is all about promoting what's best for the environment and the community, and about taking time to give thoughtful consideration for how transportation projects impact the communities they serve.

New Artist Featured at Wilsonville City Hall Gallery Through Aug. 13

Through Aug. 13, the work of local artist Ruowei Chen is on display at City Hall, as part of Clackamas County Arts Alliance's Artist Exhibit Program.

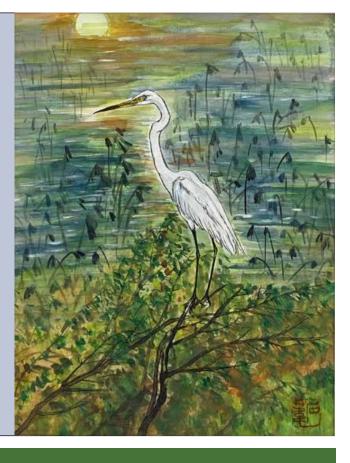

Chen grew up in a family of artists, nurtured in the learning environment of Chinese traditional brush painting and calligraphy.

He developed great interest in painting and the beauty of nature as a young child, and has honed his abilities with continuous practice over the last few decades. Chen especially enjoys painting animals, water villages, mountains, rivers, and the beauty of the seasons.

To improve his painting skills, he has learned from other great artists and has studied paintings from the historical dynasties of China. More recently, he has been influenced by western culture, which has been blended into his works.

Celebrate Juneteenth at Town Center Park on June 19

teenth Celebration take place at Town Center Park on Wednesday, June 19, from 5-7 pm

Presented by the City's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Committee, the event is designed to bring people of all races, nationalities and religions together to celebrate our shared humanity and acknowledge history that continues to influence society today.

This year's theme is "Freedom to Create & Contribute," and features a keynote by Kimberly Howard Wade, the executive director of Caldera Arts, which empowers and inspires at-risk youth through art, environment, and mentoring. Caldera also supports creatives and cultural workers as they seek to build skills and relationships to further their efforts.

KMHD's Bryson Wallace is spinning music, food is being provided by Cafe Yumm (in limited supply) and several community partners are joining us to engage and connect with the Wilsonville community.

This free event, is being planned and executed by the City's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Committee. It is made possible through the generous support of local sponsors.

This year's platinum sponsor is Swire Coca-Cola. Silver sponsors include Hilton Garden Inn, Oregon Institute of Technology, and Columbia Distributing.

Juneteenth is believed to be the nation's oldest nationally-celebrated commemoration of the ending of slavery. In 1866, Texans celebrated the first anniversary of the day word arrived in Galveston on June 19, 1865, that slavery had been abolished. The
